

waiting for network configuration error

I have found the cause of this is having any interfaces defined in /etc/network/interfaces (besides lo) defined as auto. To correct this problem, the recommended solution is to remove your interfaces from this file, and set them up with network manager. Leaving /etc/network/interfaces looking like the default:

```
[crayon-6606b1533de76167612926/]
```

Around 25 lines down in the file you will see a section:

```
[crayon-6606b1533de7e673629054/]
```

```
