

constructor initializers are called bottom-up but the constructors are invoked top-down starting with the constructor in the base class